

Wealthy Goddess

HER-STORY & TRANSMISSION

Aphrodite

HER-STORY

It was said that Aphrodite rose up out of the foaming sea, fully-grown and in full-bloom beauty, a radiance unlike anything the world had seen before. The ocean was her Mother and the semen of the castrated genitals of Uranus that landed in the sea - her father. This was said to happen off of the coast of Cypress Island in Ancient Greece.

She is known as the Goddess of Love. It was said that all were enamoured by her physical beauty. Although Aphrodite was married, she was polyamorous, with both mortal and immortal lovers alike. She was Mother to many children, one of the most famous being Eros - the child who supported her in her mission of love by shooting the arrow of love to cast like a spell.

Her only role was to love. There was nothing that she was meant to do or become, for in her be-ing-ness she radiated an absolutely magnetic frequency that pierced the heart of all of those who came near her.

Wealthy Goddess

She represented a sensuous beauty that experienced the essence of love through the erotic experience of being embodied in human form.

Depending on the tale, other Goddesses were either jealous of her for seducing their husbands, or they did not care, because they were enamoured by her embodiment of love too. In some tales, it seemed that she was above the law, as all cases against her seemed to be acquitted with no recourse.

Aphrodite was appropriated by the Roman Goddess, Venus, and in this transformation - she began to take on the role of sexuality too. Each Goddess can be seen as one in the same with a slightly different mythology. In fact, all of the different Goddesses of Love throughout history in different cultures can be seen in the story of Aphrodite in some way - in that they embodied the same core essence and served the same role.

There were said to be Priestesses of Aphrodite who were sacred prostitutes in the temples of Ancient Greece. They were the vehicle to the Goddess for those who made love to them.

Aphrodite is on this journey to remind you that your greatest wealth is unconditional love. Aphrodite longs to help you heal the spaces within that feel as if they are not enough, the spaces that strive for perfection and validation. She will help you to feel that what you are seeking is you – and that when YOU acknowledge all that you have done and all that you are that you will feel the underlying Love that makes up every cell of your being. She knows that when you see yourself as Unconditional Love that you can see money and wealth as unconditional Love, for in spiritual truth – they are an extension of you.

She reminds you to get naked with yourself and to peel back any layers of mistruths that are keeping you from the innate beauty that is fundamentally the essence of love within you.

HER-STORY & TRANSMISSION

Aphrodite Speaks

“Your greatest wealth is love. Love is the frequency and currency that pulses through all things. It is the viscosity that fills up any space. Our bodies are made up of mostly space, so imagine all of the love that is naturally pulsing inside of all of those spaces within you. Every single space that you see with your eyes, every single empty space that you see in photos of the Universe - those spaces are filled with love. Love is truth. Love is eternal. Love is within you and surrounding you. You are love.

It is time to get naked with yourself, to strip away all of the illusions that have created stories surrounding who you think you are, so that you can see to the essence of who it is that you actually are. Beauty is all around. Beauty is within you. Beauty is the essence of love. Beauty is all things that evoke the feeling of joy and gratitude.

There is this illusion that you must be productive and busy in order to bring wealth to you, that you must work hard to build the structures. But my story is the antithesis of that. As I walked Earth, it was my be-ing-ness that drew all that I wanted and more to me. I did not have to struggle, fight or strive for anything - all that I could ever desire was magnetically pulled to me. My beauty was irresistible. Not because of what you think beauty is - perfection - but because I radiated love. I pulsed with love. Every step that I made, every action that I took, every word that I uttered - I made love with the Universe. The Universe could not resist me, for my very presence was love.

HER-STORY & TRANSMISSION

You are capable of this too. When you resonant with the frequency of love inside of you, (which is the encompassment of every single light quality compacted into one) you become attractive to every single experiance and thing that resonates with the frequency of love.

It's time to stop the hustle, the bussy-ness, and the extraneous tasks - so that you can slow down, step into your body, align with your essence and experience the world through your senses. You came to Earth to experience, not to dissociate. I promise you that it is your be-ing-ness that will bring you the greatest pleasure in your life. You were born to be a living temple, an altar for the Goddess to adore. It's time to treat yourself with the same tenderness, sweetness and kindness that you would offer to a beloved. It's time to feel life pulse through you as an embodied expression of love. You can magnetize your dreams. You can dream your Heaven on Earth into form through your devotion to love.”
